The Data Controller draws your attention to the fact that if the applicant does not provide all the data strictly necessary for the assessment of the application, the possible consequence of not providing the data may be exclusion from the application procedure, given that the Data Controller cannot assess the application for the programme or cannot assess it completely without the data.

The Data Controller does not collect any special data during the application process and explicitly reminds applicants not to provide any data in the special category of personal data (i.e. data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, data concerning sexual life or sexual orientation, genetic data, biometric data, health data) during the application process.

III. Automated decision-making, profiling

Data Controller does not perform any automated decision-making or profiling in relation to the data processed in accordance with this privacy notice.

IV. Protection of personal data

The Data Controller respects the rights of data subjects under the law and, in accordance with the principle of data security, designs and implements its processing operations in a way that ensures the protection of the privacy of data subjects.

In order to ensure the security of personal data, the Data Controller shall in particular take the following measures:

- the personal data can only be accessed by those authorised to do so, they cannot be accessed by others and cannot be disclosed to others, the Data Controller has defined the scope of authorised persons based on which employees' daily work requires the knowledge of the data;
- staff carrying out data processing may leave the premises where data processing is taking place only by locking the data media entrusted to them or by closing the office;
- the computers used in the processing are the property of the Data Controller or over which the Data Controller has the right to exercise control in order to protect personal data against unauthorised or unlawful processing, accidental loss, destruction or damage;
- access to the data on the computer is only possible with valid, personal, identifiable access rights - at least with a user name and password - and the Data Controller ensures that passwords are changed regularly;
- virus protection of the information systems processing personal data is continuously ensured by the Data Controller;

- in the event of a physical or technical incident, the Data Controller shall ensure the ability to restore access to and availability of personal data in a timely manner;
- the Data Controller regularly reviews its data processing;
- the Data Controller has adopted an internal data protection and data security policy and regularly provides data protection and data security awareness training to staff working with personal data;
- the Data Controller employs a Data Protection Officer with appropriate market reputation and expertise.

V. Rights of the data subject

The rights listed in this point may in any case be exercised by the data subject by sending a request to the contact details indicated in point 1. All questions, complaints and requests will be investigated individually and answered within one month of receipt at the latest. If necessary, taking into account the complexity of the request and the number of requests, this deadline may be extended by a further two months. In such a case, we will inform the data subject of the extension of the deadline within one month of receipt of the request, stating the reasons for the delay.

a) Right of access

The data subject shall have the right to obtain from the Data Controller information as to whether or not his or her personal data are being processed and, if so, to request access to and a copy of his or her personal data.

The data subject shall have the right to request further information on the processing, in particular on the purposes of the processing, the persons to whom the data have been disclosed, the source from which the data were obtained by the Data Controller, the rights associated with the processing or the retention period.

Where the data subject's right of access adversely affects the rights and freedoms of others, in particular the business secrets or intellectual property of others, the Data Controller shall be entitled to refuse to comply with the data subject's request to the extent necessary and proportionate. For identification purposes, the Data Controller may request additional information from the data subject or charge a reasonable administrative fee if the data subject requests more than one copy of the above information.

b) The right to rectification

The data subject shall have the right to obtain from the Data Controller the rectification of inaccurate personal data relating to him or her. Depending on the purpose of the processing, the data subject has the right to request that incomplete personal data be completed, including by means of a supplementary declaration. If there is doubt about the corrected data, the Data Controller may request the data subject to provide the Data Controller with evidence of the corrected data in an appropriate manner, in particular by means of a document.

c) Right to erasure ("right to be forgotten")

The data subject shall have the right to request the erasure of his or her personal data by the Data Controller and the Data Controller shall be obliged to erase such personal data if:

- the Data Controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes for which it was collected or otherwise processed;
- the processing is based on the data subject's consent, but the consent has been withdrawn by the data subject and there is no other legal basis for the processing;
- the processing is based on the legitimate interests of the Data Controller or a third party, but the data subject has objected to the processing and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing;
- the personal data have been unlawfully processed by the Data Controller, or
- the deletion of personal data is necessary to comply with a legal obligation.

In case of deletion, the person concerned can no longer participate in the application process.

d) Right to restriction of data processing

The data subject has the right to request the restriction of the processing of his or her personal data. Restriction of processing means that, with the exception of storage, the Data Controller does not process the personal data concerned by the restriction or only within the scope to which the data subject has consented or which is necessary for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims, for the protection of the rights of another person, or for reasons of important public interest.

In the event of a request for restriction, the Data Controller shall identify the personal data concerned which it may process only for the purposes set out above.

The data subject may request the restriction of the processing of his or her personal data in the following cases:

- the data subject contests the accuracy of the personal data - in this case the limitation applies for the period of time that allows the Data Controller to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the processing is unlawful but the data subject opposes the erasure of the data and instead requests the restriction of their use;
- the Data Controller no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of processing, but the data subject requires them for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
- the data subject has objected to the processing - in which case the restriction applies for the period until the Data Controller has dealt with the objection.

e) The right to object

Where the legal basis for the processing of data relating to the data subject is the legitimate interest of the Data Controller or a third party, the data subject shall have the right to object to the processing. The Data Controller is not obliged to uphold the objection if the Data Controller proves that

- processing is justified by compelling legitimate grounds which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the data subject, or
- processing is related to the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims by the Data Controller.

f) Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority

If the data subject believes that his or her personal data has been misused, he or she can also contact the data protection authority and lodge a complaint, in particular in the Member State of his or her habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged breach.

In Hungary, you can contact the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information: address: H-1055, Hungary, Budapest, Falk Miksa utca 9-11.; postal address: 1363 Budapest, PO Box.: 9.; phone: +36-1 391-1400; fax: +36-1 391-1410; e-mail: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu; website: <http://naih.hu/>).

Irrespective of their right to lodge a complaint, data subjects may also take legal action in the event of a breach of their rights. The data subject also has the right to appeal to the courts against a legally binding decision of the supervisory authority. The data subject also has the right to judicial remedy if the supervisory authority does not deal with the complaint or does not inform the data subject within three months of the procedural developments or the outcome of the complaint.

This Privacy Notice is effective from 01 April 2026.
